

Have you made significant advances in your research? Submit your late-breaking abstract!

Contact

> Email us

> Visit our website

> Visit our blog

United European

Gastroenterology

Wickenburggasse 1

A-1080 Vienna, Austria

Unsubscribe from newsletter

Are you the author of an abstract containing state-of-the-art research with up-to-date results which has not been yet published? Your chance to submit a late-breaking abstract begins today and closes on September 9, 2016.

Late-breaking abstracts are abstracts describing important current research advances which have not been submitted previously.

Find out more about the conditions for late-breaking abstract submission.

 More information

Share

Improve your hands-on skills at UEG Week

During UEG Week 2016 you will have the chance to visit the ESGE Learning Area, the brand new Surgical Learning Area or the Ultrasound Learning Area, offering excellent training for practical minded gastroenterologists. “The best teachers will guide you how to optimize your technique in endoscopy, diagnostic and therapeutic ultrasound and surgery,” says Scientific Committee Chair Magnus Simrén.

In cooperation with ESGENA we also provide excellent hands-on education for nurses.

▶ More information

Share

Live endoscopy sessions at UEG Week 2016 recommended by Magnus Simrén

Every year Live endoscopy sessions no doubt attract many UEG Week attendees and this year won't be different. “Live endoscopy is one of the highlights at UEG Week, this year transmitted from Brussels, with endoscopies performed by top endoscopists from Belgium and other parts of Europe,” explains Scientific Committee Chair Magnus Simrén.

You haven't yet registered for the UEG Week 2016? Benefit from our reduced rates until September 8, 2016.

▶ More information

Share